The Hope Community Engagement Team formally emerged in February 2021 - building on all the previous work, which has just been highlighted. Why should we stop there !!!!

This new venture would not only develop connections for all here at Hope but would also open up a great opportunity for it's students. Practice placements are not only a requirement for a number of subjects taught at Hope, but offer an opportunity to develop beyond the classroom by enabling students to put into practice their academic learning.

MENTAL HEALTH SUPPORT FOR NHS

A group of counsellors and psychologists are providing free phone and video support sessions to NHS workers working on the frontline of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Set up by wellbeing coach Lee Chambers, from Preston, the group, Covid-19 Counsellors, allows local NHS staff to access support by matching qualified therapists to individuals working in hospitals and clinics in the north.

Chambers, who runs Essentialise Workplace Wellbeing, said: "If we each gave a few hours' free therapy to a few NHS frontline staff members, it would mean they are better placed to impact the health outcomes of the hundreds of patients they deal with day to day.

"That means each of us as a single therapist can help thousands of people just by supporting a few NHS employees."

Chambers' group is part of a nationwide effort to look after the mental health of NHS workers during the Covid-19 pandemic. All NHS workers are eligible for support. For more information visit frontline19.com.

HAND REPAIR

Liverpool Hope University has launched a new scheme allowing members of the public to gift hand cream to nurses working in the intensive treatment unit wards at Royal Liverpool and Aintree hospitals. The initiative allows people to donate bottles of hand cream via a new online store following concerns excessive hand washing leads to dry, cracked skin. The donated hand cream will be delivered directly to hospital wards.

Lisa Motttram, data analyst at Liverpool Hope, said: "We want to do something positive, and to do something nice for those crucial frontline workers."
