

Summer Study Abroad

The Beatles as Musicians

We are delighted to offer courses in May and June on a range of interdisciplinary themes for our partner universities. We do hope you will join us.

Cost:

3 week course: £2,600, 3 USA academic credits.

Course theme: The Beatles as Musicians

Liverpool is the hometown of the Beatles, one of the most significant musical groups of the twentieth century. Throughout this course, students will come to understand why the Beatles are so important to music history by learning how the Beatles developed as musicians, who influenced them, and whom they influenced. By studying with specialists in popular music and history, students will examine the music of the Beatles in its historical, cultural, and social contexts. Students will explore different approaches to studying the music of the Beatles, including the connections between music and lyrics; the role of the Beatles as composers and musicians; the intersection of popular music and politics, gender, and race; and the function of music as a product in the global market. This course is designed for students of all backgrounds and provides students with the opportunity to deeply engage with music history through firsthand explorations of Liverpool, including visiting the Beatles' childhood homes, attending a live concert at the Cavern Club, touring the Beatles Story and many other cultural activities.

This course is dependent on viable numbers.
