

Summer Study Abroad

Human Kinesiology

We are delighted to offer 3 week courses in May and June on a range of interdisciplinary themes for our partner universities. We do hope you will join us.

Cost:

3 week course: £2,600, 3 USA academic credits.

Course theme: Human Kinesiology

Human health and performance are dictated by a vast array of factors that can influence an individual's short and long-term health as well as their ability to perform in a competitive sporting context. It is therefore extremely important to understand how different factors impact on overall human health and performance. These factors can include physiological components such as cardiovascular structure and function, biomechanical components such as running gait and psychological components such as confidence or motor skill acquisition. Specialist classes in Week 2 will explore a number of ways to assess and monitor the functioning of the human body from a physiological, biomechanical, and psychological perspective as well as how to prescribe interventions to improve both health and performance.

Liverpool is a city famous around the world for its sporting culture and events, particularly Soccer. In this context, Liverpool Hope University has state-of-the-art sport laboratories which students will have access to for practical sessions and lab experience.

This course is dependent on viable numbers.
